

White Paper: A New Generation of Temperature Transmitters Has Arrived

By: - May 16, 2022

The SERIES 5900 (isolated) temperature transmitter from Watlow® has been discontinued. But its replacement, the SERIES 5950, offers even more accurate and reliable temperature measurement—and also introduces a number of connectivity options that allow for a more efficient, real-time data gathering process.

Download White Paper (/media/documents/white-papers/art_temp-transmitters_0322.ashx?la=en&hash=B489FACF99CD2295842EDA746A09A113B79DD061)

author:

randy brown, chief system designer

WATLOW
Powered by Possibility

A New Generation of Temperature
Transmitters
Has Arrived

The New SERIES 5950 Isolated Temperature Transmitter Promises Better Connectivity and Stability Over the Now Discontinued SERIES 5900

The SERIES 5900 (isolated) temperature transmitter from Watlow® has been discontinued. But its replacement, the SERIES 5950, offers even more accurate and reliable temperature measurement—and also introduces a number of connectivity options that allow for a more efficient, real-time data gathering process.

